PROVO CANYON — A 79-year-old woman was critically injured this morning in the second head-on crash to occur in Provo Canyon this week.

Ruth Mae Grimshaw Witt of Heber City was injured after her westbound car apparently slid on a snowy Provo Canyon road, crashing head-on into an eastbound pickup truck driven by Richard A. Oakley, 52, of Payson.

The elderly woman was given first-aid by Doug and Launa Murdock of Heber City, motorists to arrive at the accident scene.

Paramedics from the Provo City Fire Department's took over treatment when they arrived at the scene and radioed for a Lifeflight helicopter to transport the critically-injured woman to Utah Valley Regional Medical Center.

Utah Highway Patrol trooper Richard A. Henning said a preliminary investigation indicated that the injured woman's 1980 Ford Fiesta apparently slid on the snow-covered roadway about a mile east of the Sundance junction and slammed into the Bureau of Reclamation truck driven by Oakley.

We informed OPEC nations of our action," the Nigerian minister said. "Nigeria has always resisted acting in desperation despite the harsh economic problems we face, but obviously there is a limit to such sacrifice."

Nigeria acted a day after Britain caught OPEC off guard by lowering its North Sea crude by $5 to $28.54 a barrel. But Nigeria, which repeatedly has vowed to match Britain "cent for cent" on pricing, undercut its North Sea competitor.

Germans Want Proof on Scientist

LUDWIGSBURG, West Germany (UPI) — West Germany will only prosecute a space scientist who renounced his American citizenship if the United States can prove he abused inmates of a Nazi concentration camp during World War II, a government spokesman said today.

The spokesman for the Central Agency for the Prosecution of Nazi Crimes said it has no evidence that Arthur L.H. Rudolph, who worked on the Nazi and U.S. rocket programs, did anything criminal during the war.

Rudolph's whereabouts in West Germany have not been revealed since he renounced his citizenship in May at the U.S. consulate in the northern port city of Hamburg. He had left the United States voluntarily.

Nicaragua Explains War Prediction

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — A warning to the United Nations from junta leader Daniel Ortega that the United States planned to invade Nicaragua Oct. 15 was intended to dissuade any "military aggression," a senior official said Thursday.

Carlos Nunez, one of the country's ruling nine-man directorate, said Ortega's comments were meant to warn of the danger Nicaragua faces from rebel attacks as it prepares for November general elections.

"These statements were made in the hope that they would act to some degree as a dissuasion to U.S. military aggression," Nunez told a news conference late Thursday.

Moslem, Christian Fighting Flares

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Moslem gunmen fired on gunboats carrying Christian militias trying to rescue passengers of a sinking boat today and a key Moslem Cabinet minister rejected Israeli terms for withdrawal from southern Lebanon.

New fighting between Moslem Druze militia and the Lebanese Army underscored a widening rift in the nation's Christian-Moslem coalition government.

Witnesses said Moslem militia gunboats with machine gun fire as they tried to rescue passengers of a motorboat that sank off the coast of West Beirut.

A statement by the Christian Lebanese Forces militia issued a statement saying the 23 people aboard the motorboat were safely rescued but that the boat sank.
